Western Big Three Wary Of Purge Results Rhee-Robertson Are Believed Near Truce Agreement

Peiping Radio Sets Up Korea Truce Issues

Seoul, Saturday (AP)—U. S. Envoy Walter Robertson said today that he and President Syngman Rhee "hope to issue a joint statement this afternoon."

That was Robertson's only comment as he left a 20 minute session with Rhee at the presidential mansion.

But it led to speculation that Robertson and Rhee were preparing to make a joint announcement that they had reached a U. S.-South Korean accord on an armistice with the Reds.

Panmunjom, Saturday (AP)— Allied and Communist truce negotiators returned to the conference but here today for another try at achieving an armistice in the three-year Korean War despite South Korean objections.

The meeting got under way promptly.

After 27 minutes the delegates recessed for two and one-half hours. There was no indication of what went on inside the conference hut.

Like yesterday's session, it was executive, which meant that the results or even the topics discussed probably would not be made public.

But Red China's official Peiping radio in a broadcast heard in Tokyo laid out the issue. It said the armistice agreement would be a "paper" truce "unless the Americans take effective measures to ensure that . . . President Syngman Rhee's army will observe the armistice agreement."

"If the Korean armistice does not include Rhee's government and army, hostilities in Korea will not cease even if the armistice agreement were signed by the delegates of the United Nations Command," Peiping said.

"Rhee's government has repeatedly declared that once the armistice is signed, it will remove the South Korean army from under the U. N. Command and fight on alone."

The Communist radio reiterated three questions asked by the top Communist commanders in Korea in a June 19 letter to Gen. Mark Clark, U. N. Far East Commander.

Reds Hold Two Toeholds On Ridges

Seoul, Saturday, (AP) Chinese Reds today held two small but firm toeholds on Porkchop Hill and Arrowhead Ridge, five days after they launched the latest of Korea's bloody hill battles with elements of two divisions 40 miles north of Seoul.

Although both sides were still throwing out tremendous artillery fires, the infantry action flickered down last evening and revealed a clearer view of the five-day twin battle.

On Porkchop, fighting against the U. S. 7th Division, the Chinese won some deeply dug bunkers at the small end of the "Chop." The Americans claimed 60 per cent of the whole position, conceded 10 per cent to the Chinese. The 30 per cent area between was debated ground, too shell-swept for either side to hold.

On Arrowhead, six miles to the northeast and near Chorwon, the pattern was roughly similar. The Arrowhead position, held by the veteran 2nd South Korean Division, has two tips instead of Pork Chop's one. After five days, the Reds have won the eastern-most tip with the BOKs still holding all the rest.

Last Chance For X-Rays Is Today

Today marks the last chance Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg food handlers will have to receive free chest X-rays.

The mobile X-ray unit will stop all day in front of Wyckoff's Department Store in Stroudsburg. Community residents may also receive the free X-rays.

Chest X-rays are requested for all food handlers employed in Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg businesses. Mobile unit hours will be from 9 a.m. to noon and again from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. in front of Wyckoff's.

VACATIONS BEGIN for six New York City youngsters on their arrival at the East Stroudsburg DL&W Railroad station yesterday. Here the children meet their "friendly hosts" who will entertain them for the next two weeks. Also in the group are Mrs. Anthony Alberts, 311 Normal St., East Stroudsburg and her daughters, Diane, 8, and Patricia, 12; Mrs. William Wildrick, of Pocono Lake and Miss Martha Amend, of Saylorsburg. ### House Passes Extension Of Excess Profits Tax

Washington, (AP) The House yesterday overwhelmingly passed President Eisenhower's long embattled proposal to extend the excess profits tax—handing the President his biggest victory yet in Congress.

In the showdown, administration forces piled up a roll-call vote of 325 to 77 for the measure. It now goes to the Senate, where early approval is expected.

The final triumph in the House came after weeks of fierce back-stage maneuvers in which rebellious Republicans on the tax-writing ways and means committee had blocked action, temporarily threatening the President with a major defeat.

Voting for the bill today were 169 Republicans and 156 Democrats. Against it were 38 Republicans, 38 Democrats and 1 Independent.

The bill revives the tax, which expired June 30, and continues it to next Jan. 1. Under it the government takes up to 82 per cent of corporation profits above those established under the law as "normal."

Eisenhower, although conceding the tax was unfair and penalized small and growing concerns, urged the extension to raise an estimated $60 million dollars in revenue.

Eisenhower gave the committee his own estimates in some cases but no over-all comparison with the Truman budget was possible because the need for additional funds arose in some instances after Truman left office.

The crack about Eisenhower's austerity program came in connection with an administration request for doubling an item in the Voice of America budget to cover the cost of diplomatic parties. Some House members claim this includes liquor bills.

In its major cutting operations, the committee recommended that Eisenhower's request for 400 million dollars for Air Force construction be trimmed to zero. Truman had asked for 700 million.

Malenkov-Molotov Grasp For Power Over Russia

Stockholm, Sweden, (AP) Unless the formula has been changed, Lavrenty P. Beria, high chief of the Soviet secret police, sits in one of his own cells in Lubianka Prison tonight, an example of how the Communist party devours its own.

A few days ago he was the first deputy chairman of the Council of Ministers, a member of the all-powerful party Politburo, minister of security and down in the party's books as one of Joseph Stalin's closest comrades in arms.

Who helped do him in?
The appointment of Sergei Kruglov, a big lumbering policeman, as his successor is intriguing. Kruglov was a friend of Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov. Perhaps Molotov has now wedged deeper into the powerhouse door.

Is anyone else next?
Premier Georgi M. Malenkov has won the first round, but anything can happen in Russia. In the power vacuum that followed

Democrats Resign From Committee

Washington (AP) — Democrats angrily resigned in a body yesterday from the Senate Investigations subcommittee because Chairman McCarthy R-Wis had been given complete power to hire and fire staff members.

Senators McClellan, D-Ark., Jackson, D-Wash., and Symington, D-Mo issued a "strong protest" that they have been put in "the impossible position of having responsibility without any voice, right or authority."

A possibility arose that other Democrats might refuse to serve on the subcommittee whose investigations of alleged communism and subversion have touched off repeated controversies.

"I will accept the resignations," McCarthy told reporters. "If they don't want to take part in uncovering the graft and corruption of the old Truman-Acheson administration, they are, of course, entitled to refuse."

Gamma Globulin Is Hailed As Successful

Montgomery, Ala. (AP) — Parents uncrossed their fingers and rejoiced yesterday over an official announcement that gamma globulin has curbed the polio outbreak in Montgomery.

State Health Officer, D. G. Gill and the Montgomery County Health officer, Dr. A. H. Graham, returned their verdict a week after more than 31,000 children were inoculated with the polio-fighting serum.

It was the first time gamma globulin has been used anywhere on a wholesale basis to combat a near-epidemic of polio. The health officers waited a week before giving their conclusion because it takes that long for the treatment to take effect.

Only six polio cases have been reported in the county since the mass vaccination project started on June 30, and all of them have been light. In the 19 days before the whole inoculation began, there were 27 cases.

Ten Americans, Are Killed In Plane Collision

Stavanger, Norway, (AP) — A U. S. military transport plane and a Norwegian jet fighter collided yesterday while preparing to land in cloudy weather at Sola Airfield, killing 10 Americans and the jet pilot.

U. S. Air Force officials in London said the American plane, a twin-engine C-47, was carrying four crewmen and six other airmen as passengers. An Air Force spokesman said nine bodies had been recovered from the wreckage of the transport, which had taken off this morning from its 7th Air Division Base at Lakenheath, England.

A Norwegian flight lieutenant, pilot and sole occupant of the fighter, a Thunderjet, also perished in the collision.

Governor To Sign Sales Tax Measure

Harrisburg (AP)—Senate Republicans mustered their full strength yesterday and passed the House-approved 1 per cent sales tax over solid Democratic opposition.

The vote of 32-18 ended a five-month deadlock over how to bridge the 118 million dollar gap in Gov. John S. Fine's $1,000,000,000 budget for the next two years.

During two hours of debate Sen. John H. Dent, Democratic floor leader, promised that "the number one plank of our 1954 platform will be the immediate repeal of this obnoxious tax."

The tax, which becomes effective Sept. 1, goes to the governor for certain approval next Monday after it has been signed by presiding officers of the House and Senate.

The sales tax, exempting food, clothing and shoes, is estimated to yield 125 million dollars in the 1953-55 biennium. Earmarked for education, the tax will become effective Sept. 1 and expire Sept. 1, 1955, unless renewed by the 1955 legislature.

A series of Democratic amendments were brushed aside by the confident Republican majority. They would have exempted farm, industrial and mining machinery as well as taxable items acquired by religious and charitable organizations.

The Democrats also sought to require a state-wide referendum before the levy could be increased from the 1 per cent rate and to have the auditor general, rather than the Revenue Department, audit the tax collections. They, too, were shouted down by the Republicans.

Dent, in his long-hour speech against the sales tax, charged that it "places a burden on those least able to pay and at the same time injures industry."

"Industry was afraid to squeal when they were told that if they didn't take this tax, they would have an additional 2 per cent corporate net income tax placed on them," Dent said.

Sen. Rowland B. Mahany, Republican floor leader, defended the levy as "a fair tax that taxes according to the ability to pay."

After disposing the sales tax, the Senate then passed unanimously the reenactment of some 280 million dollars in "temporary" taxes that must be renewed each two years.

They were:

Five per cent corporate net income tax—250 millions.

Six mills of the 14-mill gross receipts tax on public utilities—10 millions.

Postponing the manufacturers' exemption from the 5 mill capital stock tax for two years—29 millions.

Action on a fourth levy—renewing the 6 mills gross receipts tax on bus and truck companies—was put off until next Monday.

More Red Convulsions Are Expected In Struggle For Domination of Kremlin

London, (AP) West European diplomats speculated last night that the purge of Police Boss L. P. Beria had opened a naked struggle for power in the Kremlin but had not changed Russia's softer-looking foreign policies.

Most observers in the chancelleries of Britain and the continent were chary of commenting on the fall of the chilly-eyed police czar, who presumably is doomed to be shot as a traitor. But the first reactions were along these lines:

Premier Georgi Malenkov and Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov teamed up against Beria, the third member of the triumvirate.

"Now, what is to become of Molotov?" asked Maurice Faure, vice chairman of the French National Assembly's Foreign Affairs Committee. But ever since Stalin's death Sir Alvaro Gascoigne, British ambassador to Moscow, has been tipping Molotov as the likely big boss.

Secretary of State Dulles, opening the Big Three foreign ministers conference in Washington, said the Beria purge showed a "new convulsion" was sweeping the Soviet Union and that it offered a "great opportunity" to the West in a time of Soviet weakness.

British officials admitted the crackup in the Kremlin may have strengthened for a time, American

Russia Is Challenged To Accept Food For Germans

Washington, (AP) President Eisenhower last night challenged Russia to accept American food to help feed the hungry, rebellious people of Soviet-controlled East Germany.

In a dramatic stroke—designed to seize the initiative at a time when Russia is torn by strife in the Kremlin itself and facing bitter unrest in the satellite countries—the President laid the offer directly on Moscow's doorstep.

If Russia accepts, the whole world will note that it took American food to help feed a Communist-run country. If the Soviets refuse, the hungry East Germans and other Moscow-dominated peoples may wonder at the humanitarianism of the Kremlin.

The President said in a note to Moscow that the United States is offering 15 million dollars worth of food to the East Germans and is ready to start delivering it "immediately."

The food would be chiefly grain, sugar, lard, soybean oil and some other commodities needed in the hunger-pinched East zone of occupied Germany.

Eisenhower's move capped mounting suggestions in Congress for "positive action" to wrest the initiative from Russia in the East-West cold war, particularly now that the Soviet hierarchy has been shaken by the firing of Russia's No. 2 man in the Kremlin, Lavrenty P. Beria, head of the Soviet secret police.

Hobart, Millet Named

Washington (AP) President Eisenhower yesterday nominated Harrison Hobart of Houston, Texas, and Spencer Miller Jr., to be assistant secretaries of labor.

IT WAS NICE WHILE IT LASTED—but it's ending too soon. That's what five-year-old Carmen Santiago seems to be saying. Carmen was on her way back to New York after a "Fresh Air" vacation in the Poconos yesterday when Record photographer Les Carlton snapped this revealing shot. ### Tougher Red Policy May Develop Washington (AP)—The Western Big Three foreign ministers reportedly agreed yesterday that the Kremlin purge of Lavrenty Beria might herald a tougher Russian policy towards the West.

The three foreign policy chiefs reached this tentative conclusion, informed officials said, at their first meeting yesterday.

At the three-hour session, Secretary of State Dulles, acting British Foreign Secretary Lord Salisbury and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault focused their attention on the reason behind Beria's sudden ouster from his post as deputy premier.

Responsible informants who attended the conference told reporters all three agreed the development may foreshadow a reversal of Russia's recent softer policy.

Despite his job as secret police chief, Beria was believed to favor a conciliatory approach toward the West and the satellite peoples, officials said.

The foreign ministers' meeting, the first of seven sessions scheduled in the next five days, got under way with Secretary Dulles publicly noting the Beria incident.

The foreign ministers reportedly reached these other tentative conclusions during their session at the State Department:

1. The increased resistance and demonstrations within the satellite countries result partly from the firm policy adopted by the Western nations.

2. The Atlantic Pact countries must continue to press forward along presently chartered lines, including approval of a European army and eventual unification of Europe.

Britain's Lord Salisbury put his government on record at the meeting as favoring an eventual top-level Big Four conference with Russia.

One informant said, however, all agreed it would be wise to guard against any premature pressure for such a parity. The Western meeting with Russia, it was pointed out, might embarrass West Chancellor Konrad Adenauer who has called elections in West Germany during September.

Hundreds To Collect Tax

Harrisburg (AP) — Rep. Albert W. Johnson, House Republican floor leader, said yesterday it will take "several hundred" new state employees to collect the 1 per cent sales tax once it becomes law.

"California now employs 800 auditors to collect the tax," he told a newsmen. "I understand it costs that state about four million dollars a year to employ the auditors but they collect eight millions that otherwise would not be collected."

Revenue Secretary Otto F. Messner was out of the state and unavailable for an estimate on what will be the size of his sales tax staff.

Sen. John J. Haluska D-Cambria sought to obtain from Sen. Rowland B. Mahany, Senate GOP floor leader, an estimate on the size of the sales tax force.

"What will it be 500, 1,000, 2,000, 5,000?" Haluska asked on the Senate floor. "Don't you know?" Mahany said he had "no idea" of the figure and could not even guess at it.

Personal Income Is Higher

Washington, (AP) — The personal income of Americans reached an annual rate of 284 billion dollars in May, a level one billion dollars above the April rate.

Private wages and salaries went up about one-half billion dollars while the income paid federal, state and local government workers was unchanged, the Commerce Department's monthly report showed yesterday.

Raid Shelter Provided

Harrisburg, (AP) — The Senate yesterday received a bill to require that every new building constructed be equipped with an air raid shelter.

Sunday School Lesson

Scripture: Romans 6:1-12.

By Newman Campbell

Life is a constant struggle. Is it not? Not only do we strive with outside influences, school, society, jobs, national and international problems, etc., but our inner struggles are constant from childhood to old age. We have needs of comfort, but how rarely does our conduct live up to these needs?

Children have their problems, as well as adults, how to adjust their desires and impulses to the will of parents, how to "get along" with other youngsters, how to learn to study and to do well at school. Life is not easy for the youngsters.

Then when they grow to manhood and womanhood, burdens and problems, which St. Paul, in his epistle to the Romans, set out a way of life for Christians that would, if all people in all parts of the world and of all faiths could only follow it, bring about the Millennium and equality.

In his sixth chapter of the epistle he states that Christ died for our sins, and we who believe died with Him and also rose with Him. However, we mustn't stop there. We must go on striving with all our might to live in Christ, and to grow more and more like Him as life goes on.

Beginning chapter 12, Paul writes, "I beseech you, therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service."

It is our bodies that get us into trouble (our feet carry us where we should not go, our hands grasp out for things we should not have, our mouths say things that we never should say, and our minds think of things that are better suppressed at once—how to get a better mark in school by cheating, how to get that job we want even if we have to climb over a friend's head, how to get what other people have by fair means or foul).

Possibly we think too highly of our skills—not enough of other people's abilities. What does Paul say? "For I say to every man that is among you, not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think; but to think soberly, according as God hath dealt to every man the measure of faith."

We have many members in one

The charge will be given by Daniel A. Oaks, of Washington, D. C., president of the Columbia Union

Paul's Gospel Will Be Theme

The sermon theme for the 11 o'clock worship service on Sunday morning in Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg, will be "The Gospel That Paul Preached." Rev. W. F. Wunder will use the text, 1 Corinthians 15:1 ("Moreover, brethren, I declare unto you, the Gospel which I have received, and wherein ye stand"). Applications for 20th century usage in every Christian life will be drawn from this Pauline letter to the early Corinthian Church.

Altar flowers will be placed by Thomas E. Treible and Miss Shirley A. Vantran who will be married this afternoon at 2 o'clock. The bulletins will be presented by Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph E. Manheim in honor of their son, Richard, serving in Korea. Messrs. Oscar B. Snyder Jr., William P. Miller, Larry Smeltz and Armond P. Brigan will serve as ushers. Thomas Kintner and Frank Schaller will serve as acolytes. Mrs. Elton Hall, assistant organist, will preside at the console for the service. She will play, "Sabbath Sunrise" as a prelude by Sawyer, and "Triumphal March" by Grieg as her postlude. The senior choral choir will render the anthem, "More Love To Thee, O Christ" by Olney Speaks with Prof. Carroll R. All, directing.

An invitation is extended to vacationists and resort guests to worship at the "College Church" at 11 a. m. Sessions of the Sunday School will be conducted at 9:45 a. m. with a completely departmentalized school of classes for every age group.

Rev. Wunder reported last night that the Women's Guild will sponsor the complete renovation and overhauling of the Moller organ. The Moller Company, of Hagerstown, Maryland, will begin work on Monday.

body, but "all members have not the same office. So we, being many, and every one members one of another. Having then gifts differing according to the grace that is given to us, whether prophecy, let us prophesy according to the proportion of faith; and so with other gifts—ministering, exhorting, etc. Who should then be envious of others with differing talents?"

"Let love be without dissimulation (or hypocrisy). Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good. Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love, in honor preferring one another."

Be not slothful in business, Paul says further, and that is a reminder most pertinent today when we see irresponsibility, sloppy work and idleness frequently. Let Paul's words to the Corinthians be our motto: "And whatsoever ye do, do it heartily, as to the Lord, and not unto men."—Col. 3:23.

"We should rejoice in hope; be patient in trouble, pray constantly. Also be kind that hospitality be given to the missionaries when they come, weary and footsore, needing food and shelter."

"Bless them which persecute you; bless and curse not. Rejoice with them that do rejoice; and weep with them that weep."

We tend to take our friends' griefs lightly, do we not? with words of sympathy, it is true, but with any depth of feeling. "Recompense to no man evil for evil. Provide things honest in the sight of all men."

"If it is possible, as much as lieth in you, live peaceably with all men."

"Avenge not yourselves, but rather give place unto wrath: for it is written, Vengeance is Mine, I will repay, saith the Lord." If my enemy is hungry, feed him; if thirsty, give him drink, for in so doing you will heap coals of fire upon his head. If you had treated a person very badly and he returned your cruelty with kindness, wouldn't you feel small and mean? That is what heaping coals of fire on his head most likely means. And such treatment might very well result in the overcoming of evil with good.

These admonitions of St. Paul's are high ideals, but we can—large or small, rich or poor—strive toward them and pray.

MEMORY VERSE.—"Let love be without hypocrisy. Abhor that which is evil, cleave to that which is good."—Romans 12:9.

Conference of Adventists, who will also give a short address. The ordination prayer will be offered by Taylor G. Bunch, pastor of the denomination's largest church in Washington, D. C.

Practically every member of the Stroudsburg Adventist church will attend the service this afternoon in Westerville, the camp site of the church near Allentown. There will be no services of the Stroudsburg church today nor next Saturday which will be the final day of the 10-day convention.

Also expected to witness the ordination will be Pastor Adams' mother and father from Roanoke, Virginia, and several of his brothers and sisters from Washington, D. C. and Virginia. His wife, Julie Elizabeth, and two children, are also expected to have a seat of honor at the special service.

Born on December 31, 1920, in Roanoke, Virginia, Pastor Adams took his theological training at the Washington Missionary College, Washington, D. C., graduating in 1947.

In January, 1948, he entered the employ of the East Pennsylvania Conference as an assistant in the ministry. He served as assistant pastor of the Tunkhannock church before taking charge of the Stroudsburg congregation in June of 1948. He also is pastor of the Easton Church.

The local pastor has proved himself very successful in his ministry thus far, proving to the executive committee of the East Pennsylvania Conference that he was eligible to become a full-fledged minister. The ordination will make it possible for him to conduct all of the services of the church, including baptism and marriage.

Mr. Adams is actively participating in the program of the Adventist convention in Allentown, serving as associate director of the youth program of the camp.

Kranendonk Is Soloist At Services

Leonard Kranendonk of the Wareing Club will sing "I Believe" and "Hold Thou My Hand" by Briggs at the morning service at the Stroudsburg Methodist Church. The Senior choir of the church under the direction of Albert J. Fregans, minister of music, will sing the beautiful anthem.

Leonard Kranendonk

"Praise Ye Jehovah" by Mozart. The solo part in the anthem will be sung by Mrs. Frances Hartzell Meredith. Mr. Fregans will play on the organ, "Le Cygne" by Briggs, and the Selsian Melody of "St. Elizabeth."

Rev. Roger C. Stimson, pastor of the church, will preach on "Our Motives for Gathering Around the Master." Those who came to the master in the "Days of His flesh" had many motives in their hearts. A study of these is helpful to our relationship to Jesus Christ.

The church time nursery will be conducted by Mrs. Lloyd Miller and Miss Elaine Ackerman. The Church School meets at 9:45 p. m. with classes for all ages. Arrangements have been made to have a staff of teachers available each Sunday in every department.

Communion At Scientist

Communion services will be held in all Christian Science branch churches next Sunday when the subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "Sacrament."

The Golden Text will be from Paul's first letter to the Corinthians (5:8): "Let us keep the feast, not with old leaven, neither with the leaven of malice, and wickedness, but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth." Also from 1 Corinthians is the following verse (11:27): "Whoever shall eat this bread and drink this cup of the Lord, unworthily, shall be guilty of the body and blood of the Lord."

A correlative passage to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, is: "We worship spiritually, only as we cease to worship materially. Spiritual devoutness is the soul of Christianity." (149:16-18).

Evelyn Beauty Shop, 757 Main St., Stbg., will be closed about the noon, starting July 10th.—Adv.

Local Jehovah Witnesses To Attend International Rally At New York City

This region will be represented by a delegation of 25 at the International Convention of Jehovah's Witnesses, Yankee Stadium, New York. Fred Severud, presiding minister here and head of the delegation, announced yesterday that the group will join with more than 125,000 other witnesses of Jehovah in their 8-day convention opening July 19.

Mr. Severud pointed out that Jehovah's witnesses are coming from every state in the Union and nearly 100 countries to participate in the largest religious convention ever to be held in America. Charter planes carrying delegates from Africa, Europe and Latin America will soon converge on New York. Large delegations from Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, and the Orient are already on the high seas. Some 18,000 Canadians are expected.

"It is significant in this materialistic age," Mr. Severud said, "that people will spend millions of dollars for the privilege of assembling together to worship Jehovah God."

"It will be a feast for the mind on spiritual food. True faith in God is not declining. Jehovah's Witnesses annually report a world-wide increase of about 20 per cent in the number preaching. We expect thousands more will be baptized at the convention."

Churches To Unite For Communion

Two congregations in the Tannersville Charge, Evangelical and Reformed Church will observe the Sacrament of The Holy Communion this coming Sunday morning, July 12, 1953.

St. Paul's E. & R. Church at Swiftwater will observe Holy Communion at 9:15, and Salem E. & R. Church, Pocono Lake will observe Holy Communion at 10:45.

Sunday School will be held at 9:30 at Pocono Lake, and 10:15 at Swiftwater.

All members and friends of the congregations are invited to these services.

Rev. L. Moore Will Speak At Mount Pocono

Mount Pocono — Hoonan Memorial Church service Sunday will be held at 11 a. m. Rev. Leon T. Moore, D. D., superintendent of the West District of the Philadelphia Annual Conference of The Methodist Church will preach.

Doctor Moore preached last summer on the Sunday when the employees of the Wyckoff Department Store attended the service. He is well-known in the community because of his activities as a former superintendent and his activities at the Pocono Plateau.

Miss Dorothy Lisette, a well-known contralto soloist of Stroudsburg will sing two selections. Mr. Anthony, Water Gap, will preside at the organ.

A cordial welcome to all visitors.

HARVEST TIME...

When the harvest comes the farmer reaps his grain, threshes and stores it, and soon it is on its way to the markets of the world.

The girl pictured above, posing amid the wheat shocks, takes the mind back to the days of Ruth of the Bible when the maidens of Judea gleaned the fields and gathered the sheaves behind the reapers of Boaz.

But sowing and reaping are not confined to the earthly fields of the physical world. In our moral and spiritual relations we are constantly scattering seed and reaping the results of our sowing.

If we cultivate the field of the spirit, and sow good words, good deeds and good thoughts, we will have an abundant harvest of the fruits of the spirit—peace and joy, hope and faith and love.

Those who sow to the spirit will find the Church an invaluable helper and the Bible an infallible guide.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

It's the Way It's Spent

Commenting on the administration's determination to cut military appropriations for the next fiscal year, Sen. Edward Martin of Pennsylvania, addressing the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Philadelphia, threw interesting light on the question. The Army, Navy and Air Force are not handicapped by lack of funds he asserted, and supported this conclusion by showing that the total spending for the 1953 fiscal year was only $43½ billion as contrasted with the estimate that $52 billion would be needed.

Sen. Martin also said that the 1953 appropriation of $47 billion added to unexpended funds available from previous years gave the military $106 billion to spend in the 1953 fiscal year.

With total spending for the year only $43½ billion, a carryover of $62½ billion to be added to this year's appropriation is now available, according to the senator.

President Eisenhower's steps to get more defense for fewer dollars are "courageous" said Martin. He predicted success provided the people stand behind the President and give him their help in cutting the size and cost of government, including the cost of national defense.

Have a Good Time

A group of Pocono area boys are on their way to California for the annual Boy Scout Jamboree, an experience that will enrich their young lives and live in their minds as long as memory serves. We hardly need wish them a good time. How else could such time be, except good?

For a week these lucky young fellows will live camp style on a vast acreage of ranch land which has been transformed into a tent city. They will meet and mingle with boys from every section of the country. They will work together, and study together and plan special activities with boys from other countries.

This is not just a wonderful trip and a grand experience for our boys. It is an education. And what a pleasant way to enrich their education!

Exit the Mansion

Approval by the House of an already Senate-approved bill providing for the sale of the 89-year-old Executive Mansion in Harrisburg is predicted, and it is hoped that official approval will be accorded the measure by Gov. Fine when it reaches his desk.

The ancient brownstone building has long since outlived its usefulness, and for the past three administrations it has served mainly as a place to hold the infrequent state functions required of our governors.

Its sale will remove from state maintenance responsibility, a virtually useless building.

Coffee, when it first was introduced into Europe, was supposed to be a remedy against colds and toothaches.

The Once Over

—by H. I. Phillips

Letter for Special Delivery
Mr. Leonard Erickson,
New York, N. Y.
Dear Sir:

You have been named director of the Voice of America with power to reorganize the entire radio and TV effort, and, since you are a big advertising agency man, it shouldn't be too hard to rid the voice of throat scratch, nasal noise and other faults.

This is nothing more than a major advertising job calling for the same walling, sense of direction and selling know-how used in putting across cigarette, beer, cosmetics, cake mixes, car polishes, etc. You have the greatest product in the world today—Democracy. And you have a greater trademark than the Smith Brothers, the Statue of Liberty with torch aloft. What you will need is a good whammying slogan and I suggest:

- 1. There's No Second Best to Freedom!
- 2. How Are You Flood for Ads?
- 3. Pick a Way of Life That Is Not a Detour to Death!
- 4. America Wants Nothing but Friends.
- 5. Make Yours Liberty!
- 6. Block That Trick!
- 7. The U. S. A! No Chains! No Firing Squads! No Detention Camps!
- 8. Mussolini and Hitler Wanted to Run the Earth. Too Remember?
- 9. You Can't Go Wrong With the Right Compass.
- 10. Don't Confuse Freedom With Tobacco Road.

It should be easier to sell a glorious way of life than a detergent, a breath sweetener, an icebox or a smoke. It's all in the formula. Brevity and succinctness are the top requirements. Nobody clutters up a soap or toothpaste selling campaign with a load of "dissa and data" that includes phonographic recordings of Hit Parade numbers, the figures on last year's auto production, the glorification of home as a luxury center, or involved dissertations telling a starving Himalayan peasant how millions of Americans go to work in business, spend their week ends in swimming and get a handsome income through quiz programs. If the dumbest new boy in any advertising agency couldn't get up a better formula for selling freedom in a half hour than the Voice of America experts have devised in the last five years, he should be fired.

It is a job calling for inspiring symbols, flashing slogans, zip-drive and nonstop hammering on a few points that anybody can understand without a set of directions. If it ain't easier to sell life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness than soap and salad oils something is really wrong with the viewpoint. The only really KING SIZE product on the market today is FREEDOM. Of all thirty-day tests the most appealing is a THIRTY-DAY LIBERTY TEST. Tackle the job, Mr. Erickson, just as if Uncle Sam, your new client, was selling razor blades, dentifrice, floor wax, lipsticks or a new hair lotion. This is the advertising job of the age. If we can't sell the matchless story of Yankee Doodle Dandy it's time to ask what tobacco, hops and chocolate have got that Uncle Sam hasn't got.

Good luck,
ELMER

The British are fighting demands for commercials on TV and radio. . . . You've got to cheer a country that doesn't want to be hammered on the head by way of the outdoor aerials. . . . Jackie Gleason's last show of the season was the best one of all due largely to the fact he let somebody else into the act. . . . A big percentage of motorists, it is announced, have faulty vision. . . . Up to this announcement we had assumed they were driving with their eyes closed. . . . Our idea of minimum courage is talking back to an umpire on a TV screen. . . . Business and industry are using the polygraph to detect in questioning job applicants. . . . The applicants should bring along one, too, just to make certain what is in those statements. "If anything turns up I'll get in touch" and "You'll hear from me in later." . . . We can't help wondering how the title "Miss Universe" affects a girl, especially if she started out in life as merely "Miss Stony Creek" or "The Belle of Wagoner Falls." . . . SERVICE WITH A SMILE

Robert S. Allen Reports

Appropriations Committee Fails To Awe Economist

Washington — The House Appropriations Committee, which holds great power in Washington, but it's not enough to awe Dr. Arthur Burns, head of the President's recently organized Council of Economic Advisers.

Despite more than an hour of grilling and prodding, the former Columbia University professor flatly refused to give the Committee a business forecast.

Burns wasn't defiant, throughout he was courteous and temperate. But he firmly balked at discussing economic conditions, and none of the potent committee members could drag or wheedle anything out of him. Burns just wouldn't talk and that was that.

Illustrative of this unusual tactic was Burns' interrogation by Representative Albert Thomas, Tex., a ranking Democratic committee member.

What's the general economic outlook?" asked Thomas. "How do things look to you? Also, what effect will the recent increase in interest rates have on business and agriculture? Our constituents are vitally interested in those matters."

"Congressman," replied Burns, "those are very important questions that I am now earnestly studying."

"Fine," exclaimed Thomas, "and what are you learning as a result of your studies? That's what we are trying to find out, we would like to get some answers on those questions."

"I hesitate to discuss them until my own understanding is clear," explained Burns. "My studies are still incomplete."

"You know, your statement is very curious," said Thomas, "but several of your predecessors came before this Committee and took the same position you do. They always hesitated about giving us their views and opinions. Certainly you ought to be able to give us some estimate of what effect the Administration's money policy will have in six, three, six or nine months from now. Can't you do that?"

"I'm sorry," insisted Burns, "but I am not in a position to answer your question responsibly."

"Well, you are going to have to advise the President, aren't you?" demanded Thomas.

"Yes, and I shall do the best I can," said Burns. "But I must feel completely free to say that I don't know the answer to this or that question or problem."

"Well, Dr. Burns, can you tell us this," pleaded Thomas, "what is the thinking of economists generally, what's the overall viewpoint of the profession?"

"As I gauge it from my seat," replied Burns, "the sentiment of the country is approximately as follows. Labor organizations and their economic staffs are very seriously opposed to the credit policy now being pursued. . . . Agricultural organizations are critical, some perhaps severely critical. The opinion of businessmen and financiers is divided."

Here and there One of Dr. Milton Eisenhower's unannounced missions during his good-will tour of South America as the President's personal emissary, is to avert a clash between Peru and Ecuador over the former's bellicose demands for a settlement of long-pending territorial disputes between them. Peru has concentrated a number of troops on Ecuador's southern border, while the latter has begun drafting 18-19-year-olds. Further disturbing this explosive situation is the increasing unpopularity of Ecuador's President Belasco Barona in his own country, due to his imprisonment of newspapermen and quarrels with military leaders.

Ralph Trigg, former top Agriculture Department official in the Truman Administration, is telling friends he is considering running for Governor of New Mexico next year. Trigg is a close friend of Senator Clinton Anderson (D., N. M.), who is up for another term in 1954. . . . American casualties in Korea have averaged 1,545 a month during the past six months. This includes killed, wounded and missing, but not non-combat casualties.

Benefactor — Former President Harry Truman found himself in an unexpected role during his visit to Washington.

A bitter Texas political foe hailed him as a big benefactor.

The incident occurred when Truman renewed old acquaintances in the Senate chamber. He was introduced to Senator Price Daniel (D., Tex.), who campaigned last year against Truman policies and for President Eisenhower.

"Here is the rebel on the Democratic side," Truman was told as Daniel was presented.

"Oh, yes," said Truman, "I've heard a lot about you. You're quite a campaigner."

"Mr. President," declared Daniel, "one of my colleagues asked me why I came to the luncheon for you today. I told him that if it hadn't been for you, I mightn't have come to the Senate. You had a lot to do with electing me."

"Well, that's one way of looking at it," laughed Truman.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

An Intelligence Organization Must Be Sensitive To Intent Of All Others

Intent

The main purpose of an intelligence organization of any country is to gather, evaluate and utilize information on the intent of friend and foe alike. Intent is a matter of evaluation and may involve a certain amount of estimating, assuming, and even extol-gazing. A competent intelligence organization does not shut out any possibility; it tries not to be caught short and then have to admit its failure to forecast the conduct of other nations. It exists to do forecasting and its officials are paid to do precisely that.

The public and even the press know very little about the intelligence activities of our country. They are necessarily secretive and should remain so. It must be that the Army, Navy, and State Departments functioned independently, gathering their own data and making their own estimates. When this system was in vogue, each department sent copies of data to the others; but each made its own evaluations.

In World War II, the OSS came into existence as a super-espionage organization to specialize in difficult operations. It was over-advised and glamorized which is never necessary for espionage. That spy is best who is least known or noticed. A hidden organization can become overt through a minor indiscretion, thus imperiling the lives of agents. For instance, the single defection of Guzenko in Canada led to the exposure of the whole of Soviet Russia's espionage apparatus in the Western world. Finally, the Central Intelligence Agency was organized to meet all the needs of the country for intelligence and espionage. The CIA is a large, independent arm of government with a huge budget. If its judgments and evaluations are correct, it can be of the greatest value and whatever is spent on it is justified. If its estimates are wrong and the agencies of government, from the President down, operate on incorrectly evaluated data, then the danger to the country can be enormous.

Therefore the CIA, which gathers, eliminates and evaluates both strategic and tactical data, is a tremendously important agency of government. At present the CIA is managed by Allen Dulles, brother of the Secretary of State. His predecessor was General Walter Bedell Smith, now Under Secretary of State and one of the closest advisers to General Eisenhower.

It is quite clear from all available data that the intent of the Germans to attack in what came to be known as the Battle of the Bulge could have and should have been known. American intelligence was inadequate, particularly as to the intent of the Germans. There are many explanations of why we failed to know the German intent, but none of them is even plausible.

To cite two more instances: it should have been known, in the early stage of the Korean War, that Chinese troops were marching from Canton to Manchuria to come to the relief of the North Koreans who had been defeated by General MacArthur. A con-troverly developed as to whether General Charles A. Willoughby, MacArthur's intelligence officer, or the CIA was badly informed. Willoughby blames the CIA and the CIA blames Willoughby. The fact is that an intention of the Chinese Communists, many months in the making and actually in process, was not known to our command until the Chinese struck at us.

Similarly, President Syngman Rhee publicly stated his intention to adopt an independent attitude toward anti-Communist prisoners of war unless the Republic of Korea got a square deal out of the so-called truce. This statement of intent on the part of the Republic of Korea was evaluated incorrectly as a bluff. It turned out to be startlingly real.

Evaluation is difficult, requiring not only enormous fundamental knowledge but keen judgment. It would be stupid to assume that evaluation will always be correct and that any human being possesses godlike wisdom.

Nevertheless, when the stakes are so high, too many errors of judgment cannot be lightly accepted as average human error. That can be too costly.

An intelligence organization must be sensitive to the intent of every other country. It should have, for instance, anticipated the development of neutralism. However, no intelligence organization can or should be responsible for overt acts to correct discovered intentions. Espionage discovers; other agencies act on the discoveries. Otherwise, the intelligence organization becomes another State Department and defies the reason for its existence.

Looking At Life —by Erich Brandeis

Whenever things become too complicated or the world seems to be going completely to the dogs, I go to the children, anywhere from six to 21, and in a few minutes my spirit is refreshed and my hope for the future strengthened.

We grown-ups are being bombarded day after day with bad news. If people on other planets had radios that could receive our news of newspaper deliveries from earth, I am sure they would exclaim "Gosh, I am certainly glad that I don't live on earth!"

So many people have wondered whether the recent tornadoes weren't caused by the atomic experiments in Nevada. I went up to Worcester, Mass., the other day to see what nature had done to that town and its environs.

I am not going to bore you with statistics or with a description of that frightful holocaust.

But there was something that impressed me more than anything else.

I passed a home in nearby Shrewsbury, the whole second floor of which had been destroyed by the tornado. It was a terrible sight!

But on the first floor, the woman of the house was carefully cleaning the windows, while one of the other children was removing rubble from the peninsula bed.

And a little tyke—about six—was playing out in front.

When I stopped, he came to me and said proudly: "An atom bomb did this. Daddy told me."

I realize that we have all sorts of trials and tribulations in life. But so have we—and in infinitely larger measure—goodness and decency and love and beauty and all the other God-given blessings.

Ask any child. Ask any teenager. THEY will tell you.

Here is the exact quote of the lawyers after the conviction of the Rosenbergs: "I would like to say to the Court on behalf of all defense counsel that we feel that you have treated us with the utmost courtesy, that you have extended to us the privileges that we expect as lawyers . . . we feel that the trial has been conducted . . . with that dignity and that decorum that befits an American trial" . . . # AAA Traffic Engineer To Submit First Findings In Two Weeks

Says By-Pass Would Mean More Business

Advance indications of what Stroudsburg can expect in mapping the future of its parking problems and a by-pass of the borough by Route 611, were deposited with officials of Pocono Mountains Motor Club by J. Edward Johnston, AAA traffic engineer before he left here yesterday after a two-day conference.

The traffic expert was reported to be opposed to the diagonal parking system now in operation in Stroudsburg and quoted as saying "It is very unusual a town of this size should have so much traffic."

Johnston was called here by the Motor Club to survey the congested traffic and make a full report of his recommendations. That report, it was learned, will not be forthcoming until late next month. But it was indicated a preliminary statement may reach here late this month.

Leroy Dengler, president of Pocono Mountains Motor Club, said Johnston left his Washington, D. C., office to come here "in spite of a busy schedule because he termed this an 'emergency'."

Dengler said the AAA specialist advised local officials he will consult with the Pennsylvania State Highway Department on their plans for by-passing Stroudsburg before completing his report.

He also was reported as saying the people of Stroudsburg should take steps now to alleviate internal parking problems by providing better parking facilities, abolishing left hand turns and by making more one-way streets.

Johnston reported that even a by-pass of Stroudsburg, taking 77 per cent of the through-traffic out-of-town, will not solve all the problems. He pointed out that more business probably would be generated if the traffic was rerouted, and for that reason parking facilities here should be improved.

X-Rayed Food Handlers Now Total 2,019

A total of 402 food-handlers and other persons received free chest X-rays yesterday as the mobile X-ray unit visited three local communities and resorts.

According to Mrs. Estelle Fleming, executive secretary of the Monroe County Tuberculosis and Health Society Unit, the mobile unit stopped at Camp Tamiment, Unity House and Middle Smithfield schoolhouse during the day. Food-handlers from the Middle Smithfield area resorts were processed during the stop there.

A grand total of 2,019 persons have received the free X-rays so far, Mrs. Fleming said.

Infant Will Be Baptized

The baptismal rite will be administered at the font in the sanctuary with Rev. William F. Wunder, officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Charles

Christine Nominated Without Opposition For State VFW Commander

Monroe county's Elmer D. Christine appeared to have a clear field for the post of State Veterans of Foreign Wars commander last night. Christine's name was the only one submitted during nominations for the post. Members of the local delegation expressed certainty that the Stroudsburg "favorite son" would be elected to the post by a unanimous vote.

More Fresh Airs Arrive

It was the beginning and the end of vacations for 46 fresh air fund children yesterday as they received cheery welcomes and tearful adieus from the "friendly hosts" of the Pocono Mountains.

Six New York City youngsters stepped from the 12:26 p.m. DL&W train in East Stroudsburg into the waiting arms of three area hosts while 40 kiddies were packing their luggage in area homes, prepared to train at 4:30 for their metropolitan apartments.

Another 13 children are remaining here for extended periods, some even until September 1 when they'll take leave to rejoin their New York playmates just in time for school.

Vacations in the Poconos, annual pilgrimage sponsored by the New York Herald Tribune, with the cooperation of local residents and Mrs. John Wilson, this year saw the return of many kiddies for the fourth year with the same hosts.

First group of 51 children reached East Stroudsburg June 26 and 11 of that number are staying out. Yesterday's arriving contingent included Patricia, 8 and Bobby Moran, 5, who are guests of Mrs. Anthony Aiberts, 311 Normal St., East Stroudsburg; Gloria Nalewajk, 8 and Patricia Miller, 8, staying with Miss Martha Amend, of Saylorsburg; and Patricia Friday, 12 and Rita Slizer, 12, visiting Mrs. William Wildrick, Pocono Lake.

Escorting the half dozen children to East Stroudsburg was Mrs. Doris Wiseman, of New York City, who entrained for the city with the 40 returning youngsters.

Clapper will serve as sponsors with the parents. Mr. Clapper is the maternal uncle of Dianna. Dianna was born in the Monroe County General Hospital on October 16, 1952 and her mother was formerly Doris Estelle Clapper.

There was only one possible hitch, delegates said. Nominations are still "legally open" until the beginning of the State elections at 9 a. m. today.

This means that, if and when, a sudden "dark horse" move for the commandship should develop, delegates backing Christine would be forced to put up a fight at the last minute.

No talk had appeared, as of the close of nominations, however, on the subject of "another candidate."

Unless competition rolls in from an unexpected source, Christine is virtually assured of election by unanimous vote.

The Monroe county district attorney's name was submitted to the 34th Encampment of the Pennsylvania VFW Department by Frank Weiler, also of the Stroudsburg Thomas P. Lambert post 2540.

Second to Weiler's motion came from Eddie Conrey, commander of Post 13, Allentown, in the Eighth District.

Election of State officers is scheduled to take up most of the convention's time this morning. Installation will be made this afternoon.

New Firemen Is Injured

Milford—Rondolph "Skip" Gregory, Milford's newest fireman, has a decided limp to show for his initiation today.

"Skip" was admitted as a member of the Milford Volunteer Fire Co. on Tuesday night.

He had been a member only two days when he was called out on his "first fire." Along with 24 other members of the company, Gregory sped along Route 6 to the New Jersey Y Camp yesterday afternoon to help put out a barracks fire.

Once on the scene of the fire, the fledgling fireman helped lay a two-inch hose, made ready to fight fire in true firefighter's fashion.

Within a matter of minutes, Gregory slipped on a step, turned his ankle, fell to the ground. He was taken to a doctor for X-rays. Doctor's diagnosis: sprained ankle. Recommended treatment: rest, relaxation—and no more fires for a spell.

Mrs. Eckert Is Elected Secretary

Mrs. Ruth Eckert, 109 S. Green St., was elected secretary of East Stroudsburg's School Board this week succeeding her late husband, Howard E. Eckert who died June 28.

The board also appointed Robert Wright, Maple Avenue, to fill Mr. Eckert's unexpired term as a member of the board.

Election of three new teachers also occurred during the session.

Delbert Davis, substitute teacher, was elected to instruct social studies classes and be assistant football coach in the high school. Mrs. Edna Reilly, formerly a teacher in Bethlehem Township and a current resident of Star Route, East Stroudsburg was named special education instructor.

Edward Parsons, East Stroudsburg RD 2 was elected as a Junior High teacher. He served as a substitute there.

A contract to install fire alarm systems in the elementary and high school buildings was awarded Henry Peters. Bills totalling $2,117.82 were ordered paid.

Driver Is Uninjured In Bad Wreck

Saylorsburg—A truck driver who escaped serious injury when his truck crashed here early yesterday morning was the subject of an hour-long search by State police who were anxious to learn if the man was hurt.

The driver, George W. Steiner, 21, of New Stanton RD1, Pa., climbed from his completely demolished truck at 12:45 a.m. and was taken to the General Hospital, East Stroudsburg, by a passing motorist.

Meanwhile, State police of Brodheadsville station arrived on the scene. Finding no trace of the driver, they began a telephone hunt for Steiner and learned he was treated in East Stroudsburg, then discharged.

Steiner's truck, valued at $9,500, was a total loss, police said. He told police the left front wheel locked as he descended Route 115 traveling north. The vehicle veered to the West, turned over and rolled about 150 feet before stopping.

Steiner was pinned inside the twisted wreckage but managed to squeeze through a small opening in the left door and free himself. An unidentified motorist took Steiner to the hospital, where he

Borough Files Action To Get Abatement Of Odors

A bill in equity asking Monroe County Court to compel Holland Manufacturing Company, Stroudsburg, to install equipment which would abate "nuisance" conditions was filed by Stroudsburg Borough yesterday.

The complaint, filed by George T. Robinson, borough solicitor, and signed by borough officials requests the Court to enter a mandatory decree requiring Holland Manufacturing Company to correct the flow of dye water, dye solutions and chemicals into lagoons behind the plant at 411 S. Main Street.

The bill adds that Stroudsburg borough has "repeatedly" requested Holland Manufacturing Company to abate the nuisance without action by the firm and states the borough's 6,313 residents are deprived of "reasonable enjoyment, comfort and convenience of their respective homes and properties" because of the odors and insects coming from the installation.

Legal proceedings were authorized by borough council at the June meeting after a series of negotiations with company officials failed to reach a solution.

The complaint says that citizens of the borough, particularly those living in the First Ward are being inconvenienced to the point where the escaping odors "tends to lessen human food and water intake, interferes with sleep, upsets normal appetite, produces symptoms of nausea."

Record Story Reunites Two Brothers

A Daily Record photograph and story reunited two brothers and spelled an extended vacation for an 8-year-old boy who was scheduled to return to New York with 40 children yesterday.

The photo of young Gus Contogenis scolding a horse Silver, and the details of how Gus incurred minor cuts and bruises including a horse-bite, while vacationing with Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Mader in Swiftwater, was spotted by the boy's uncle and aunt and the reunion followed.

Mr. and Mrs. James Allam, who reside on Route 611 just north of Stroudsburg, were entertaining Gus' brother Gerry, 17, and were cognizant that Gus was somewhere in this region with the fresh air fund group. But to locate him was another problem.

The solution came with the photo on Wednesday, Mrs. Allam

Knights Of Malta Meet Tuesday

St. John's Commandery No. 386 Knights of Malta will meet at 8 o'clock Tuesday night in Malta Temple.

Sir Knight Commander Robert E. Price says he expects a large attendance as there are many important summer affairs to be arranged for.

called Mrs. Mader, then gained permission from Mrs. John Wilson, head of the local program, to keep Gus here. Later she called the boy's father in New York, informed him of the events and Gus is now with the Allams and his brother Gerry for the rest of the Summer.

Mr. and Mrs. James Allam, who reside on Route 611 just north of Stroudsburg, were entertaining Gus' brother Gerry, 17, and were cognizant that Gus was somewhere in this region with the fresh air fund group. But to locate him was another problem.

The solution came with the photo on Wednesday, Mrs. Allam

MR. AND MRS. JAMES CHASE, newlyweds, won't go hungry as long as the canned goods holds out. They are shown above at a surprise bridal shower in honor of Mrs. Chase held at the home of her parents this week.

Bridal Shower For Mrs. Chase At Smith Home

A surprise miscellaneous bridal shower was held for Carolyn Smith Chase on Wednesday night at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Smith on North Courtland St., East Stroudsburg.

Kitchen utensils had been tied on blue and white streamers cascading from a covered umbrella hung over the doorway. Other gifts had been placed under the canopy thus formed.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Janet Plattenburg and Catherine Oney, both cousins of the bride.

Those present were: Mrs. Peter Deum, Mrs. Annie Sears, Mrs. Thomas Brown, Mrs. Harold Cramer, Mrs. Adam Clark, Miss Margaret Smith, Mrs. Floyd Shively, Mrs. Herman Muransky, Mrs. William Smith, Mrs. James L. Smith and Dottie, Mrs. Andrew Weiss, Miss Sherry Plattenburg, Miss Lydia Smith, Mrs. Charles McDonald, Mrs. Chauncey Bender, Mrs. Theodore Myers, Mrs. Clarence Strunk, Mrs. Rudolph Gush, Miss Betty Cole, Mrs. John F. Smith, Mrs. Clarence Plattenburg, Misses Linda Carol and Josephine Plattenburg.

Unable to attend but sending gifts were: Mrs. Fred Troellich, Mrs. Fred Neipert, Mrs. Lillian Bush, Mrs. Charles Schnaufer, Mrs. Allen Wiggand, Mrs. Fred Eyer, Miss Jean Eyer, Mrs. Earl Van Why, Mrs. Albert Chase, Miss Phyllis Chase, Mrs. Russell Strunk, Mrs. Norman Ruston, Mrs. Richard Otto and Mrs. Lucy Morrison.

With a touch of Paris just outside the office doorstep, Friday's church seemed ever more unbecomingly than usual. Not that I've ever been to Paris but I imagine that you could have transported Seventh and Court House Square bodily to Paris and have it seem right at home.

The paintings leaning against the buildings or propped against a tree—the artists with their camp stools, some of them working at their craft—and the whole friendly atmosphere of strangers stopping to talk to the artists and to each other—that is what I hope Paris is like.

Of course, here, you have the advantage of being able to understand what they're saying. Orlyna Dreher rushing down all excited to report the first sale of a painting by one of her fellow artists; Mr. MacPherson telling of the harrowing experiences his wife went through piloting her plane through the storms on the Powder Puff Derby.

Mrs. Bondra urging all and sundry to look at the work of the neighboring artist; passersby commenting that Mrs. Strauss's gingham whale looked a lot more friendly than Sterling's though their Jonah's seemed equally ailed.

Mrs. Harry Hobbs explaining that she was taking the snow scene home with her because it was very cool to look at after a hot session with the turkey; Papa Shafter being very modest about all the nice things he kept overhearing people say about Gloria's paintings.

Oh, it was a gay day, all right, and fortunately the social news kept pace. I can offer you Nancy Bender's scholarship; Dianne Smith's coming concert; Arlie Williams, traveler. All this and old friends in reunion, 4-H Clubs sewing on skirts, Sunday school picnics, and always romance. Why travel, when we've the world at our doorstep?

A. W. Williams Tells GOP Women Of European Trip

There were almost 100 persons present for the picnic meeting of the Monroe Council of Republican Women held Thursday night at the Foster Minnich summer home along the Delaware at Minisink Hills. Mrs. John Kitchen, vice president, presided at the meeting in the absence of Mrs. Olaf Pedersen.

The group included 24 from Barrett Council including the president, Mrs. Sue Price, and there were also guests from Pocono Mountains Council.

Arlington W. Williams, as guest speaker told of his recent trip to Europe. He was introduced by Mrs. Eli Travis, program chairman. He gave his impressions of France, where the crumbling houses and high prices contrasted with the neatness and abundance of food in Holland.

In Holland, American flags are everywhere and English is taught in the schools, he said. The merchandise fair in Utrecht, the International Flower Show in Aismar showed evidence of prosperity and initiative, he said.

Another sharp contrast, he said, was the trip through the Ruhr and Saar Valleys in Germany where the bomb destruction and desolation of the people are strongly marked. He called attention to the common Monroe County names which they saw throughout Germany.

Though the people of Germany were living under great hardships, he found no bitterness but great content. The guide in Cologne was a great believer in Eisenhower, he said, and in Luxembourg the guide was convinced that whatever Eisenhower did would be right for the world.

In England, he found inspiration in the courage of the people living in austerity. The Marshall plan was in England being credited with saving England, he found, and everywhere people living with the conviction that the world would be free.

At the dinner, Harry Taylor gave the invocation, Mrs. Foster Minnich, Mrs. Albert Buehler, Mrs. Kenneth Skolden, Mrs. Anthony Barbacher, Mrs. Arthur Staples and Mrs. Howard Kester composed the hostess committee.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

Back in 1934 a woman named Helen Martini happily awaited the birth of her child. She had prepared a nursery and purchased a layette for the little one, and then was suddenly faced with the heartbreaking news that she would never be a mother. All of the soft, cuddly blankets, the bottles and nipples, the nighties and diapers were packed lovingly away, in the hope that some day the doctors would be proved wrong.

Then, one wonderful day much later, Mrs. Martini unpacked her hope chest, and wrapped some of the blankets around a small, uncared for baby, whose own mother refused to nourish him. As she held the small, warm bundle in her arms, forcing drops of milk down the tiny throat, Helen Martini experienced a very satisfying happiness, such as she had never known before. Here was a baby whose very life depended upon her. . . . a baby whose well-being was highly important to the men who employed her husband, and to the thousands of people who went regularly to the Bronx Zoo. The fact that the infant she cradled was a lion cub, made no difference at all to the tender-hearted woman.

The lion cub was just one of many small beasts that came at varied intervals to the home of Helen and Fred Martini. As head keeper in the lion house, Fred led into the habit of bringing all kinds of jungle babies home, the minute their own mothers refused to wash and feed them. As a result, his wife became a nationally known authority on the care of baby tigers and lions, as well as the founder of the first zoo nursery to be seen anywhere. A real nursery it was too — right back of the Lion House on the park grounds, with walls of pink, curtains at the window, decals on the wall, and pretty toys.

The fascinating story is told in Helen Martini's autobiography, "Mother Was Human", now appearing condensed in the July issue of Ladies' Home Journal. If you love animals . . . and warm-hearted, kindly people, you'll want to order this book through our Wyckoff book department, or, if you prefer reading the condensation, you'll wish to purchase your copy of the Journal from our magazine rack today. No one could ever regret meeting this attractive couple. There are, as you know, Martinis and — well, martinis. THESE go to your HEART!

You will be in Wyckoff's today, won't you? We're open until 9 p. m. and our center aisle is the one spot in town where you're sure to see everyone.

Women shoppers will be interested, I'm sure, in the new shipment of Roger and Gallet glamour items—such as eau de cologne and bath soap in "Blue Carnation", packaged together at $1 plus tax. Dusting powder and sachet are more expensive, and tale is only $5c. I've sung about "Blue Orchids" and "One Dozen Roses"—but at the moment those Blue Carnations top my hit parade. And what sweet music that fragrance is!

Stephen Bortlik
Article July 2
Dear Editor:

Your article fairly presented the outward facts in my brother's and my case. However, the reason for our action was not explained. I believe you will agree that if you publicize my refusal to be inducted into the armed forces, fair play requires that you give me a chance to explain why. You have always been fair and I am confident you will allow my views to be put before those having read about a case that to them must be puzzling. Indeed if they don't know the motives.

I am an ordained minister of Jehovah's Witnesses' faith and recognized as such. Modern clergy have in our opinion, deviated from original early Christian principles. They carry titles, receive salaries for preaching, and have departed from the door-to-door activity which characterized the early church. The early church was united. In modern churches hundreds of sects present a convincing proof of the penalty men must pay for departing from the arrangements inaugurated by Christ himself. I can not consent to conform to the religious pattern set by modern-day clergy in order to win recognition as a minister.

We are convinced, beyond a shadow of a doubt, that we are living in the most critical period of human history; in a period likened by Jesus to the time of Noah. (Matt. 24:37) Jesus' command is that even though nations will fight one world war after another, his ministers must continue to preach "this gospel of the kingdom" even if they are thrown "into prison, being brought before kings and rulers for my name's sake." (Matt. 24:14; Luke 21:12).
When Jesus gave the command to preach rather than fight even if the result is prison, how can I dare do other than "obey God rather than men?" (Acts 5:29).
Sincerely yours,
STEPHEN BORTLIK.
July 7, 1953.
Dear Mr. Ostrom:
The Band Mothers of Stroudsburg High School wish to thank you for your kindness and generosity in helping their recent "Tag Day" to be such a grand success.

We are very proud of our youngsters and deeply appreciate the valuable time and space you used for their welfare.
Yours most sincerely,
F. H. MEREDITH, Secretary.
Mr. Editor:
This is another version of alternate Route 611, advanced by a Stroudsburg business man.
Make a sweeping curve at the bottom of Foxtown Hill, beginning at the intersection of Broad St. and continue to the intersection of Bryant and Park Ave. This would bring the road back of the service station which is now on the curve. This would ease the curve considerably.
Make a traffic circle on Park Ave. between the intersection of Barry St. and Park and Russ Bar-high's Service Station. From this traffic circle, traffic could be routed to Route 90 by way of a ramp down to the old WB & E roadbed going east to Broad St. or 5th St. Going west the road would meet the same right of way of WB & E railroad and could continue along that right of way to the intersection of 200 which is just beyond the Rinehart's Diner. With a traffic interchange at this point there would be no signals or bottlenecks to retard traffic. The road would then continue over to 611 joining somewhere between the CLU Park and Bartonsville.

Extensions could be made from South 8th and 9th streets to join this new road.
The old WB & E right of way is 60 ft. wide, very little additional property would be required for the new road.
This plan would take traffic out of town but would keep the town

Hogan Wins British Open

Carnoustie, Scotland (CP)—Ben Hogan won the British Open golf championship yesterday with a 282 to take his place forever beside Bobby Jones at the summit of all golf.

The little Texan—grim and greyish-blue from near exhaustion and influenza which struck him yesterday morning—accomplished his feat on Carnoustie, justifiably one of the most feared courses in the world.

On the last of his journeys around Carnoustie's 7,200 yards of tournament torture, Hogan broke the competitive course record with a 68.

That gave Hogan a 282—an advantage of four strokes over amateur Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O.; Dai Rees, the tiny Welshman; Australia's Peter Thomson and Argentina's Antonio Cerdas.

It was Rees and Scotsman Eric Brown who led the field as the golfers went to the first tee yesterday with Hogan two strokes back, 142 to 144.

But the Texan, admittedly deathly tired, moved into a share of the lead with Argentina's Roberto De Vincenzo after a spectacular 70 in the morning round.

This was Hogan's first British Open attempt and his success ended abruptly the taunts and jeers that have followed the little man that "You can't play that other kind of golf"—the Scottish kind in the wild-sea winds, sleet and rain.

Hogan's victory gave him golf-dom's "triple crown"—Augusta Masters, the U. S. Open and the British Open. That is as close as a professional can get to the "impossible quadruple" that Bobby Jones won in 1930—the U. S. Open and Amateur and the British Open and Amateur. The Masters was not in existence then.

The final 68 was superb, sprinkled with perfection.

The greatest of those 68 shots—and one of the greatest in the history of the game in this north-land home of golf—was a 30-yard chip on the fifth. The ball, resting in the grass deep in a bunker beside the green, arched up after the master golfer swung his club. The ball bounced, rolled boldly for the cup, struck the back lip, bounced a foot in the air, and fell into the hole with a happy "plunk."

That gave Hogan his first birdie—a three—of the round. From that point on he played old Carnoustie as an ordinary mortal plays a Tom Thumb course.

Mrs. Hogan—known throughout golf as Valerie—said she had a bottle of medicine waiting for Ben, but that he had been afraid to take it before playing the 36 holes of the final day.

National Bank Wins Over Penn-Stroud

National Bank missed scoring in only one inning last night and piled enough runs into four frames to down the Penn-Stroud Hotel, 13-7, in a Stroudsburg Little League game.

League baseball game played on the circuit's official field.

The Bankers jumped off to a 1-0 edge in the first inning, only to have Penn-Stroud tie the count in its half of the second.

National Bank exploded for six runs in the bottom of the second and held the upper hand the remainder of the distance without trouble, by adding two tallies in the third and four in the fifth.

Penn-Stroud came up with four markers in the sixth and final inning, but the late spurt wasn't nearly enough to change the tide of battle.

Larry Beseker hit his third home run of the season over the left field fence with one on in the second.

Pocono Art Group Show Is Opened

Pocono Mountains Art Group opened its second annual outdoor exhibit yesterday in Stroudsburg. The show continues today.

From 10 a. m. to sunset the show attracted hundreds of visitors. More than 30 artists brought between 250 and 275 paintings for exhibit in the show.

Group chairman Olivia Dreher, Stroudsburg called response to this year's exhibit "fine" and estimated that the number of artists participating would far exceed last year's total.

Many of the paintings on display are for sale. Prices, ranging from $5 up, have been marked on the individual painting. If it is not "for sale", the painting will be so marked.

The exhibit begins at Seventh and Main Sts., runs to Courthouse square on both sides.

A number of professionals are included in the exhibit, alongside amateurs and non-professionals who have taken up painting as a hobby.

Highlights from the professional circle exhibited yesterday: Dave Harrison's dark, brooding portrayal of the interior of a building reminiscent of a prison; the same artist's incisive use of architecture to project feeling in other paintings; Sterling Strauser's angular, haunting portrait of his niece, "Nancy"; and brilliantly-colored paintings of "Giraffes" and "Unicorns"; Peter Mendler's richly-realistic portrait of "The Bookworm"; Peter Heiden's subdued depiction of cows standing at a watering place; Chas. Golden's muscular watercolor of "Carl Clausen"; well-known author and owner of "The Blue Tote" at Delaware Water Gap, Harvard Meperson's easel-mounted scene showing rocks and trees in Arizona; paintings of a Portuguese church and ships at Gloucester, Mass. by Rachel Bray, Bangor portraitist.

Among local artists whose work may be seen during the two-day exhibit are Mona Fitzgerald, who was the first artist to make a sale yesterday as a result of the show; May Price, Gloria Shaffer, Olivia Dreher, Arlene Fritz, Helen Aument, Adele Katz, Beatrice Edgerly, Violet Clarke (masks), Mary Weingartner, Daniel Koch, Ruth Cron, Betty Hamilton, Samuel Lee, Caria Holmgren, Ruth Hinton, Sam Rosen, Gertrude Rugh, Otto Christ, Henrietta Hobbs, Dave Miller, Herbert Lorenz and Dr. Claus Jordan.

As was the case last year, landscapes and still life were predominant in the show. Among the former, stand-outs were Mrs. Weingartner's scene from "Cape Ann, Mass."; a painting of trees, a horse and a grey, ghost-like shed by Mrs. Ernest Cron; two "beginners" paintings by Sam Lee—one of the Portland covered bridge, the second showing a red schoolhouse in a maze of greenery; Gloria Shaffer's boldly-textured Maine rock and seashore and a brightly-lighted "Shale Top Farm"; Caria Holmgren's lavender-shaded painting of Resica Falls.

Still-lives worthy of special note were: Olivia Dreher's delicate highly-effective pastels; Mrs. Fitzgerald's sombre "Snack" showing a stein, a slab of rye and two biscuits, done in deep browns and greys; a painting of hammers against a blue plate by Helen Aument.

A special display of "paintings in cloth" is being shown by Dorothy Strauser.

Added to the show today will be

ANYONE FOR PAINTING? Here Bangor artist Rachel Bray is shown giving a lesson in painting to Mrs. Robert Schock, Parryville (seated); Mrs. Claude Ash, Palmerton and Mrs. Howard Graver, Aquashicola. The out-of-towners were typical of the hundreds of persons (many of them from far afield) who visited yesterday's outdoor art show. The show continues through today. Dave Miller will demonstrate sketching to day and do portraits of visitors to courthouse square. (Daily Record Photo)

County Allocated 2,250 Antlerless Deer Permits

Monroe County's allocation of "antlerless deer" licenses has been set at 2,250 for the Dec. 14-15 season this year.

Announcement of the quota was made yesterday by the State Game Commission in Harrisburg.

Monroe's allotment compares with 1,375 for Carbon, 2,400 for Pike and 2,400 for Wayne Counties in this area.

The antlerless licenses will be issued by the county treasurer only. Fee for the license will be $1.15.

Such licensing permits the owner to hunt only in the county in which it is issued.

State game authorities have done a drastic cutting job on the number of licenses available for this year.

For 1952 a total of 224,600 licenses were issued and 37,829 antlerless deer were reported bagged by hunters during the three-day season.

This year only 103,765 licenses will be available—less than half the 1952 total. Cut-down on the number of licenses is expected to result in lower bag totals.

The season has also been cut by one day, with hunters slated to get a two-day season this year.

Game Commission spokesmen said yesterday the purpose of the commission is no longer to reduce the size of the antlerless herd but rather to maintain it in reasonable numbers in relation to existing food supply.
